the northern ireland affairs committee today publishes its report on the consultative group on the past in northern ireland report hcp 171 session 2009 10 isbn 9780215542687 this report concludes the committee s inquiry into the feasibility of implementing the proposals made in the report of the consultative group on the past in northern ireland the committee reached the following conclusions including that northern ireland has not yet reached a consensus on how to move on from its recent past also it is not clear that northern ireland needs a legacy commission when bodies such as the victims and survivors commission and the historical enquiries team are already dealing in different ways with aspects of the legacy of the troubles that healthcare services particularly mental health services for those affected by the troubles are under strong pressure that any future legacy commission should be chaired or co chaired by figures from northern ireland rather than by a foreign figurehead that the northern ireland assembly rather than the uk government should ultimately be responsible for decisions on how to fund a legacy commission and therefore on the width of its remit and that clarification is required on what role the irish government would play in setting up such a commission and in particular on what financial contribution it would be expected to make this book explores the work of thomas seebohm 1934 2014 a leading phenomenologist and hermeneuticist it features papers that offer a critical and constructive dialogue about seebohm s analyses and their implications for the sciences the net result is an in depth study and a helpful overview of seebohm s general approach and his specific views on various areas of modern science the contributors focus especially upon his final text history as a science and the system of the sciences they view this as the culmination and summary of his historical and phenomenological investigations into the foundations nature and limits of modern sciences this includes not just history but the geisteswissenschaften more generally along with the social and natural sciences as well the essays in this volume reflect that range this volume presents insightful discussions about the nature and legitimacy of the human sciences as sciences and the unique character of the social sciences it will be of interest not just as a matter of historical scholarship but also and above all as an important contribution to phenomenology and to the philosophy of science and the sciences as such it deserves attention by scholars from any philosophical tradition interested in thinking about the foundations of their disciplines and a philosophy of science that includes but is not limited to the natural sciences slavoj Žižek is undoubtedly one of the world's leading cultural critics his witty psychoanalytically inspired analyses of contemporary society have almost single handedly revived the notion of ideology his brilliant commentaries on the french psychoanalyst jacques lacan and the 19th century german idealists have brought alive their often difficult ideas for a new generation of readers but does Žižek have anything to say in his own right is there a system of thought that we can properly call Žižekian this book argues that there is through a reading of two terms in his work the master signifier and the act featuring an interview with Žižek himself slavoj Žižek live theory presents a snapshot of the Žižek system ideal for undergraduates in social and cultural theory and philosophy
